

Get Free International Commercial Arbitration Scotland And The UNCITRAL Model Law Greens Practice Library Read Pdf Free

Commercial Arbitration Scottish Arbitration Handbook Arbitration in England International Arbitration MacRoberts on Scottish Construction Contracts Commercial and Consumer Arbitration A Companion to the Reformation in Scotland, c.1525-1638 Governing the Extractive Sector Dispute Resolution and Conflict Management in Construction Dundas and Bartos on the Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 Land Law and the Extractive Industries ADR and Trusts Commercial Leases in Scotland Stability and Legitimate Expectations in International Energy Investments Arbitration National Climate Change Acts Yearbook Commercial Arbitration Volume Xxxv 2010 (Crc) Rev Practitioner's Handbook on International Commercial Arbitration College of Commercial Arbitrators Guide to Best Practices in Commercial Arbitration The Law and Governance of Mining and Minerals New Horizons in International Commercial Arbitration and Beyond Business Law in Scotland The UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration International Commercial Arbitration and the Brussels I Regulation The Global Energy Transition Arbitration Law Handbook Yearbook Commercial Arbitration, 2004 Commercial Law in Scotland Yearbook Commercial Arbitration Vol XXXIII 2008 Fouchard, Gaillard, Goldman on International Commercial Arbitration MacRoberts on Scottish Building Contracts Interim Measures in International Arbitration MacRoberts on Scottish Construction Contracts International Arbitration and the COVID-19 Revolution Commercial Law Essentials Local Government in Scotland Law Making and the Scottish Parliament Yearbook, Commercial Arbitration Yearbook: Commercial Arbitration Common Principles of Tort Law

A study of legislative developments in areas of law and policy devolved to the Scottish Parliament. In the spirit of Pieter Sanders's classic Quo Vadis Arbitration? (1999), this far-reaching overview of the state of international arbitration thoroughly assesses the current condition and prospects of arbitration and conciliation with practical, insightful solutions to the new and emerging problems confronting arbitration practice today. A distinguished group of internationally renowned arbitrators, academics, and lawmakers elucidate the ubiquitous evolution towards increased technical complexity, the need for multi-focal and multi-cultural approaches, and the tension between desirable simplicity and indispensable precision that have come to characterize current arbitral practice and procedure. Among the topics covered are the following: remote hearings; reliance on digital technology; cost of arbitration in a post-COVID world; extension of the arbitration agreement to non-signatories; tailoring of ADR techniques to suit the needs of micro, small, and medium-sized enterprises; jurisdictions emerging as new arbitration hubs, e.g., Delaware, the Caribbean, Scotland; evolution of a code of conduct for adjudicators in investment disputes; and the reform of bilateral investment treaties. As Sanders's 1999 book did at the time, the chapters identify specific improvements and refinements to the entire system as it has developed over recent decades. The book will be a go-to resource for the arbitration community worldwide as a stocktaking of current and ongoing trends in international arbitration. It will enthuse the many lawyers, judges, legislators, and businesspeople to whom it is addressed. A thorough and systematic analysis of oil and gas production contracts, applicable world-wide, with practical, clause-by-clause guidance from some of the top practitioners in the energy industry. Together with Oil and Gas Exploration Contracts, this book completes the suite of upstream oil and gas agreements. This Commentary provides rich and detailed analysis both of the provisions of the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration (the Model Law), and of its implementation, including a comparative account of the operation of the Model Law in the numerous jurisdictions which have adopted it throughout the world. Whether you are a student coming to commercial law for the first time, you are studying for your exams or you are a professional who needs to update or refresh your knowledge, this is the study guide that you need. You will quickly learn about the key topics in commercial law and its effects on the law of Scotland. Summaries of essential facts and essentials cases will help you to identify, understand and remember the most important elements of the subject. Topics covered include: Sale of Goods, Hire, Agency, Insurance, Rights in Security, Cautionary Obligations, Negotiable Instruments, Consumer Credit, Intellectual Property, Diligence, Personal Insolvency and Commercial Dispute Resolution. The Arbitration Law Handbook collects together in one volume the laws in force in more than twenty countries, with the main procedural rules used in each of those countries. Each section has a short overview identifying relevant treaty obligations, the main arbitral bodies and the principal laws in force. Additionally, there is an international section in which the UNCITRAL Model Law and Arbitration Rules are set out and in which the major international conventions relating to arbitration, such as the New York Convention and table of signatories, are reproduced. The section also includes the ICSID Arbitration Rules (applicable to the settlement of investment disputes), as well as those of WIPO (applicable to the settlement of intellectual property disputes) In 2010, the Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 came into force with the aim of modernising Scots law on arbitration. Building on the previous edition, this book reviews the last 10 years: the development of the law in Scotland, the use of the Act and the Rules of Court, and how it all works in practice. Introduction to land law and extractives in Africa -- Land law reforms in Africa and their

Impact on the extractive industries -- Land access from the perspective of the African mining sector -- Land access from the perspective of the energy sector -- Conclusion : pertinent issues in the African extractive industries. This volume provides a practical guide to the Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 together with comparative international case studies. It provides a thorough analysis of the Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 (which provides a modern statutory framework for domestic and international arbitration in Scotland) and the most important current issues that are arising in the field of international commercial arbitration. It includes a number of highly relevant legal case studies that compare Scottish and international practice. The Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994 changed the structure of local government in Scotland. This book covers not only government reorganization but also changes in the structure of water and sewerage services and the creation of the office of Principal Reporter to head the Scottish Children's Reporter Administration. This edition has been updated to take account of changes made by the 1994 Act as well as other related developments in the areas of social work; education; housing; planning; transportation; tourism; economic development; and the reorganization and system of local government in Scotland. For nearly three decades the international legal, business and academic communities have relied on the Yearbook Commercial Arbitration for comprehensive coverage of the complex field of international commercial arbitration. With its reporting on developments in legislation and arbitral institutions, and its excerpts of arbitral awards and court decisions, Volume XXIX continues the Yearbook's tradition of providing topical information in special sections, covering: Awards from arbitral institutions not readily available elsewhere. Court decisions on arbitration, including: Canadian court decisions on awards made in connection with NAFTA Chapter 11 and US Supreme Court decisions on procedural issues, damages and the applicability of the Federal Arbitration Act. Arbitration rules from leading arbitral institutions, this year featuring: The new arbitration rules and code of ethics from the Arbitration Chamber of Milan, with an introduction by Rinaldo Sali. The New Swiss Rules of International Arbitration, introduced by Dr. Wolfgang Peter. The American Arbitration Association/American Bar Association's Code of Ethics for Arbitrators in Commercial Disputes, with an introduction by William K. Slate II. The Guidelines on Conflicts of Interest in International Commercial Arbitration issued by the International Bar Association. The International Law Association's resolution on public policy as a ground for refusing recognition or enforcement of international arbitral awards, introduced by Pierre Mayer and Audley Sheppard. Court Decisions on the leading international arbitration conventions, with: Excerpts of 72 court decisions applying the 1958 New York Convention from the national courts of 10 countries, including extensive coverage of recent decisions from the German courts. US decisions applying the 1975 Panama Convention. A Bibliography of recent books and journals on arbitration. Edited by the International Council for Commercial Arbitration (ICCA), the world's leading organization representing practitioners and academics in the field, the Yearbook is a vital resource for anyone involved in the practice and study of international arbitration. Dark history -- The case for civil society and corporate actors -- Obstacles in holding corporations to account -- The United States -- Canada, the UK and Australia -- Utilising state-based and civil society sponsored mechanisms - A new policy direction -- Accountability, effectiveness, and contrast. Based on and includes revisions to : Traité de l'arbitrage commercial international / Ph. Fouchard, E. Gaillard, B. Goldman. 1996--Cf. foreword. A Companion to the Reformation in Scotland deals with the making, shaping, and development of the Scottish Reformation. 28 authors offer new analyses of various features of a religious revolution and select personalities in evolving theological, cultural, and political contexts. Introduction / Peter Cameron, Xiaoyi Mu and Volker Röben -- Comparison of outlooks and implications for an energy transition / Xiaoyi Mu and Dilip K Jena -- Oil-rich countries' responses to energy transition : managing the decline / David Manley, Patrick Heller, and James Cust -- A treatise for energy law / Raphael J Heffron, Anita Rønne, Joseph P Tomain, Adrian Bradbrook, and Kim Talus -- What do we mean when we talk about international energy law? / Volker Röben and Gökçe Mete -- The legal effect of the Paris rulebook under the doctrine of treaty interpretation / Petra Minnerop -- How will energy market regulation have to change in the era of energy 4.0? / Penelope Crossley -- Between transnational private law and public international law : engineer-driven self-governance in transboundary energy megaprojects / Christoph G Benedict -- Managing the threat of regulatory capture under the European Energy Union / Rafael Emmanuel Macatangay and Volker Röben -- Power over power : the global energy interconnection and potential cyber-threats / Jakob Haerting -- Implementing the energy transition in the face of investment protection standards / Martin Jarrett -- The EU FDI screening regulation as an example of the proliferation of FDI screening processes affecting the energy sector / Leonie Reins and Dylan Geraets -- International arbitration in the renewable field : recent developments in Spain / Iñigo del Guayo -- How should shale gas extraction be taxed? / Philip Daniel, Alan Krupnick, Thornton Matheson, Peter Mullins, Ian Parry, and Artur Swistak -- Trinidad and Tobago's Oil and gas sector in a changing world (2010-2019) / Kevin Ramnarine -- The concept of global energy transition and its agenda / Peter Cameron, Xiaoyi Mu, and Volker Röben. Many construction conflicts and disputes are not limited to particular jurisdictions or cultures, but are increasingly becoming common across the industry worldwide. This book is an invaluable guide to international construction law, written by a team of experts and focusing on the following national systems: Australia, Canada, China, England and Wales, Estonia, Hong Kong, Iraq, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, the Netherlands, Oman, Portugal, Quebec, Romania, Scotland, Sweden, Switzerland, and the USA. The book provides a consistent and rigorous analysis of each national system as well as the necessary tools for managing conflict and resolving disputes on construction projects. International Arbitration and the COVID-19 Revolution Edited by Maxi Scherer, Niuscha Bassiri & Mohamed S. Abdel Wahab The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on all major economic sectors and industries has triggered profound and systemic changes in international arbitration. Moreover, the fact that entire proceedings are now being conducted remotely constitutes so significant a deviation from the norm as to warrant the designation 'revolution'. This timely book is the first to describe and analyse how the COVID-19 crisis has redefined arbitral practice, with critical appraisal from well-known practitioners of the pandemic's effects on substantive and procedural aspects from the commencement of proceedings until the enforcement of the award. With practical guidance from a variety of perspectives - legal, practical, and sector-specific - on the conduct of international arbitration during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond, the chapters present leading practitioners' insights into the unprecedented and multifaceted issues that arise. They provide expert tips and challenges in such practical matters as the following: preventing and resolving disputes of particular types - construction, energy, aviation, technology, media and telecommunication, finance and insurance; arbitrator appointments; issues of planning, preparation and sample procedural orders; witness preparation and cross-examination; e-signature of arbitral awards; setting aside and enforcement proceedings; and third-party funding. Also included are an empirical survey of users' views and an overview of how the COVID-19 revolution has affected the arbitration rules of leading arbitral seats. With this timely and practical book, arbitration practitioners and scholars will gain up-to-date knowledge of sector-specific challenges brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic and approach arbitration proceedings with an understanding of the most important legal and practical considerations during the crisis and beyond. The first edition of Interim Measures in International Arbitration edited by Lawrence Newman and Dr. Colin Ong, is most auspicious in its timing. The editors have compiled a shrewd and very practical questionnaire and they have gathered together a formidable group of some of the most reputed and talented practising arbitration lawyers, academics and arbitrators from 43 leading jurisdictions to inform the reader about the essential elements of the different interim measures which are available as part of the arbitral process in a very large number of different national jurisdictions. This book, thus, combines the best elements of a focused legal textbook with the essential practicalities of a practitioners' procedural handbook. This should be a standard travelling-companion of international arbitrators and counsel as well as many international lawyers-- not just those who are arbitration specialists. The Yearbook Commercial Arbitration continues its longstanding commitment to serving as a primary resource for the international arbitration community with reporting on arbitral awards and court decisions applying the leading arbitration conventions, as well as arbitration legislation and rules. Volume XXXIII includes excerpts of arbitral awards made under the auspices of, inter alia, the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC); a biennial update of the Digest of Investment Treaty Decisions and Awards first published in 2006; notes on new and amended arbitration rules, including references to their online publication; notes on recent developments in arbitration law and practice in the Dubai International Financial Centre, Rwanda, Slovenia, Syria and Ukraine, as well as on the opinion of the Advocate General of the European Court of Justice in the West Tankers case; excerpts of 109 court decisions applying the 1958 New York Convention from 23 countries - including an update of Russian and Greek jurisprudence and, for the first time, decisions from Argentina, Belize, the British Virgin Islands, Chile and Peru - all indexed by subject matter and linked to the General Editor's published commentaries on the New York Convention; an extensive Bibliography of recent books and journals on arbitration. The Yearbook is edited by the International Council for Commercial Arbitration (ICCA), the world's leading organization representing practitioners and academics in the field, with the assistance of the Permanent Court of Arbitration, The Hague. It is an essential tool for lawyers, business people and scholars involved in the practice and study of international arbitration. Settling trust disputes without litigation can save all parties legal costs and maintain confidentiality (reducing the risk of unwelcome publicity). ADR and Trusts has been written to help professional advisers who want to help their clients to avoid litigation. It is a development from the authors' accredited mediation training course for the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners (STEP). Part A introduces the reader to the different forms of dispute resolution, and examines the differences between arbitration and mediation of trust and fiduciary disputes. The mediation process is explained, including: the role of professional advisors, and the tools and techniques for mediation. The authors examine ways of avoiding disputes, cross-border aspects of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR), the psychological factors affecting mediation, the mediator's powers to mediate and settle disputes, and ethical issues in Trust ADR. Islamic and Sharia Trust ADR is also considered, with close study of the developing approaches in Canada and the UK. Part B examines 27 jurisdictions and how trust law and ADR operates in each of them. The jurisdictions covered are: Australia, Bahamas, Barbados, The British Virgin Islands, Canada, Cyprus, England and Wales, Florida, France, Gibraltar, Guernsey, Hong Kong, India, Ireland, Isle of Man, Israel, Italy, Jersey, Liechtenstein, Malaysia, Mauritius, New Zealand, Panama, Scotland, Singapore, Switzerland, and the United Arab Emirates. Each profile addresses: arbitration law and practice, trust law, the mandatory requirements for mediation and the enforcement of ADR awards. Mediators, arbitrators, trust and estate planning practitioners, trust managers and anyone involved in trust disputes should all benefit from reading this book. Article 288 (2) EC, on liability of the European Community and its organs, refers to the common principles of tort law in the Member States. There are at least two good reasons for looking into these general principles: in nearly all developed Western legal orders, tort law is determined through judge-made law, which now requires a comparative orientation by means of principles and systemized casuistry; and the various attempts to "Europeanize" private law - from mere restatements to a comprehensive European Civil Code - are all grounded in these common principles of contract law, tort law, property law and so on. This book's somewhat unconventional contribution takes its cue not so much from the politically defined "EC Europeanization", but rather from the transnationality of law. By comparing tort law in the EC member state, Germany, and the non-EC member, the US (two of the most developed western industrial nations), this publication endeavors to develop principles which serve as a basis for generalization. These principles claim validity for the civil-law and common-law legal orders of Western civilizations, which includes the EC with its respective Member States. This title is aimed at a learned European audience interested in legal harmonization, but also addresses comparatists in the civil-law and common-law legal world and mixed jurisdictions outside of Europe. Its main focus is to contribute to the further development of tort law. The idea of a tort law system based on general principles and specific rules grows out of the continental natural-law tradition of civil law, but increasingly principle-oriented works are also found in common law. This book develops a common level of international work on structures and concepts of modern tort law. Annotation Volume XXXV (2010) of the Yearbook marks a profound change in the way materials are presented to the reader. As of this Volume, the Yearbook's selection of arbitral awards and court decisions - made accessible by translations, indices and categorized lists - is available to the reader in a combination of print edition and online publishing which takes into account the needs of an increasingly mobile work environment. Introduction / Thomas L Muinzer -- What do we mean when we talk about national 'climate change acts' and how important are they in the context of international climate law? / Thomas L Muinzer -- 'Paris compatible' climate change acts? national framework legislation in an international world / Matthias Duwe and Ralph Bodle -- The UK's Climate Change Act / Richard Macrory and Thomas L Muinzer -- Mexico's framework legislation on climate change : key features, achievements and challenges ahead / Alina Averchenkova -- Denmark's Climate Change Act(s) / Sarah Louise Nash -- Ireland's Climate Action and Low Carbon Development Act 2015 : symbolic legislation, trojan horse, stepping stone? / Andrew Jackson -- The Swedish climate policy framework including the climate act / Åsa Romson and Kristina Forsbacka -- The Dutch response to climate change : evaluating the Netherlands' Climate

Act and associated issues of importance / Otto Spijkers and Sofie Oosterhuis -- The New Zealand legislation : pursuing the 1.5 °C target using a net zero approach / Prue Taylor -- Conceptualising and formulating national climate change acts / Thomas L Muinzer. ICCA's Congress Series No. 12, reflecting the contributions of numerous renowned arbitration experts to the 2004 ICCA Beijing Conference, commences with an overview of the current international arbitration regime in China and Hong Kong, noting both the progress that has been achieved and the work that remains to be done there. The remainder of the volume comprises two sets of papers on contemporary substantive and procedural issues in international commercial arbitration. The first set contains in-depth reports on the topical subjects of arbitration of foreign investment disputes, the granting of provisional or interim measures with respect to arbitration and the enforceability of awards, supplemented by commentary from the point of view of various specializations and regions. The second, also using the format of reports and commentary, addresses modalities of conciliation and settlement in relation to arbitration, including various non-binding (ADR) processes, issues (drafting step clauses and confidentiality) in integrated dispute resolution systems, which may combine conciliation and arbitration, and the role of arbitrators as settlement facilitators. Legal regimes for mining are experiencing enormous changes. Whereas before they focused on property rights facilitating extraction, they now embody principles oriented towards sustainable development. This book explores the challenge of developing agreements in such a complex landscape. The Practitioner's Handbook on International Commercial Arbitration provides concise country reports on important jurisdictions for international arbitral proceedings, as well as commentaries on well-known arbitration rules which are frequently incorporated in international legal agreements. Most international commercial contracts now include an arbitration clause as an alternative to resolving disputes in the state courts. This second edition of the Practitioner's Handbook includes newly updated country chapters, expanded international coverage and commentary on the most important arbitration rules worldwide. It is written by world-leading arbitration practitioners and academics and combines a practical approach with in-depth legal research and analysis of important national and international case law. The book is unique in its coverage, providing uniformly designed country reports and thorough commentaries on internationally recognized arbitration rules in just one volume. There are individual chapters for the following countries: Austria, Belgium, China & Hong Kong, England, France, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Singapore, Sweden, Switzerland, USA. Each country report covers: jurisdiction, the tribunal, arbitration procedure, the award, amendments and challenge to the award, liability of arbitrators and enforcement of national awards; and provides details of national arbitration laws, arbitral institutions in the jurisdiction, model arbitration clauses and a bibliography, including a list of key judicial decisions. The first edition was reviewed as "an outstanding book" and "an extremely useful tool". The work is an indispensable one-stop reference point for lawyers drafting international arbitration clauses or handling arbitration proceedings in different countries. With the coming into force of the Arbitration Act 1996, this topical handbook contains all the materials the arbitrator needs to operate efficiently, including: the full text of the Arbitration Act 1996; the existing legislation that should remain in force when the new Act is in operation; the previous legislation for Alderney, Guernsey, Isle of Man, Ireland and Scotland; the Arbitration Rules from specialist world bodies, such as WIPO and TAS; plus major international documents affecting arbitration, such as the Model Law. Provides a guide to the general principles of Scottish law relevant to construction contracts and the main provisions of the standard forms of construction contract used in Scotland including: the obligations of employers and contractors certification payment ending a construction contract remedies subcontracts collateral warranties insurance dispute resolution regulatory matters The new edition has been substantially updated and expanded to take account of the latest editions of the Scottish Standard Building Contracts and recent case law. Specific updates have been driven by the following changes to legislation and standard contracts Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 and the relative Scheme for Construction Contracts Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 Recognising the significant increase in use of NEC3 standard forms of contract, references to NEC3 provisions have been introduced throughout the relevant chapters so that each now covers the common law, the SBCC provisions and the NEC3 provisions. It also features new chapters on: litigation; competition; the Bribery Act 2010; and guarantees and bonds. From reviews of previous editions: 'very approachable and readable... I would particularly recommend this book to non-legal construction professionals' - Construction & Engineering Law 'an informative textbook for the practitioner... [a] significant contribution to knowledge' - Arbitration 'a highly competent... textbook which would be of value for industry professionals with no legal background' - Construction Law The Brussels I Regulation, which ensures the free circulation of judgments within the EU, was recently revised; one of the main issues addressed was whether the Regulation affects the efficient resolution of international commercial disputes through arbitration within the Union. This book provides an in depth examination of the interface between the Regulation and international commercial arbitration. The author demonstrates that the consequences of this interface can encourage the use of delaying tactics, hampering the efficient resolution of international disputes. England is a leading centre for arbitration, both international and domestic, arising out of all manner of contractual disputes and industry sectors. This book comprises contributions from well-known arbitration practitioners and scholars who present, in a straightforward and readable fashion, the rich and varied nature of arbitration in England today. The early chapters describe the development of the arbitral system in England and its traditional leading institutions, the London Court of International Arbitration (LCIA) and the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (CI Arb). They also provide a unique focus on the specialist areas of commodity, maritime, construction and sports arbitration. The remainder of the book deals with the law and practice of arbitration in England and concludes with two additional overview chapters relating to arbitration in Scotland and the Republic of Ireland respectively. Insightful and practical guidance is given in relation to a number of key areas, including: appointing and challenging arbitrators; applicable law and the influence of EU law; the role of the court, including anti-suit and anti-arbitration injunctions and interim relief; arbitration procedure and practice in ad hoc and institutional arbitrations; factual and expert evidence, including privilege and electronic document production; challenges to, and appeals from, awards; recognition and enforcement of awards; and multilateral and bilateral investment treaty arbitration. Anyone whose pursuits or responsibilities require knowledge of arbitration in England - including practitioners, in-house counsel, business persons, academics, and students around the world - will benefit enormously from this thorough study and analysis of contemporary arbitration practice in the jurisdiction. This book discusses the key provisions of the standard Scottish building contracts, against the background of Scots law. The new edition covers, in detail for the first time, Scottish adjudication, including a number of appeal cases, and covers other new case law and important new developments in novation. It is based on the 2005 revised Scottish SBCC building contracts. Provides a guide to the general principles of Scottish law relevant to construction contracts and the main provisions of the standard forms of construction contract used in Scotland including: the obligations of employers and contractors certification payment ending a construction contract remedies subcontracts collateral warranties insurance dispute resolution regulatory matters The new edition has been substantially updated and expanded to take account of the latest editions of the Scottish Standard Building Contracts and recent case law. Specific updates have been driven by the following changes to legislation and standard contracts Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 and the relative Scheme for Construction Contracts Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010 Recognising the significant increase in use of NEC3 standard forms of contract, references to NEC3 provisions have been introduced throughout the relevant chapters so that each now covers the common law, the SBCC provisions and the NEC3 provisions. It also features new chapters on: litigation; competition; the Bribery Act 2010; and guarantees and bonds. From reviews of previous editions: 'very approachable and readable... I would particularly recommend this book to non-legal construction professionals' - Construction & Engineering Law 'an informative textbook for the practitioner... [a] significant contribution to knowledge' - Arbitration 'a highly competent... textbook which would be of value for industry professionals with no legal background' - Construction Law Now, at a vantage point to look back at how the legislation has performed and how it has affected the use and conduct of arbitration under Scots Law, the authors provide detailed commentary on and interpretation of each provision of the Act in the context of case law before and after 2010, the Arbitration Act 1996, and international jurisprudence. While considerably in-depth this title is designed to be used as a practical tool and easily referenced source of answers for arbitrators, arbitration lawyers and others. This book assesses stability guarantees through the lens of the legitimate expectations principle to offer a new perspective on the stability concept in international energy investments. The analysis of the interaction between the concepts of stability and legitimate expectations reveals that there are now more opportunities for energy investors to argue their cases before arbitral tribunals. The book offers detailed analyses of the latest energy investment arbitral awards from Spain, Italy and the Czech Republic, and reflects on the state of the art of the legitimate expectations debate and its relationship with the stability concept. The author argues that, in order to achieve stability, the legitimate expectations principle should be employed as the main investment protection tool when a dispute arises on account of unilateral host state alterations. This timely work will be useful to both scholars and practitioners who are interested in international energy law, investment treaty arbitration, and international investment law. In the highly regarded SULI series, this provides a comprehensive account of the Scots Law of arbitration following the groundbreaking Arbitration (Scotland) Act 2010. It covers all aspects of the law, not merely domestic, but international arbitration conducted in Scotland. Since one of the features of the 2010 Act is that parties to certain arbitrations can choose to be governed by the pre-Act law, the book also covers this, including the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration. Throughout the law is considered in its international context, with frequent reference both to appropriate authorities from other jurisdictions and the more significant rules of arbitral institutions.

crosscooking.parmigianoreggiano.com